

WASLA News and Announcements

May 19, 2010

We need your help! What if we could fight childhood obesity, reduce crime, create jobs, and revitalize communities all at the same time? Congress introduced a new bill to do all those and more in the very places we live and work every day. Called the Urban Revitalization and Livable Communities Act, the legislation would provide grants to help communities build or revitalize more than 2,300 parks and recreation centers every year. ASLA needs 2,300 letters and e-mails - one for every potential project - by May 23 to let them know how important this issue is in your community. To learn more and to find a link to contact your representatives, go to the 2,300 by May 23rd website on ASLA's webpage at <http://www.asla.org/ContentDetail.aspx?id=26684>.
